

HOW CAN MY SCHOOL SUPPORT RECONCILIATION?

Reconciliation requires us all to BE BRAVE and MAKE CHANGE.

This year for National Reconciliation Week, we invite you to take braver and more impactful action. Find out below for how your workplace can learn, act and share to progress the movement towards a reconciled, just and equitable Australia.

Learn

- Download the Reconciliation in Education Kit
- Participate in Cultural Competency Training for staff
- Develop a reading and video library of resources for your teachers
- Display an Aboriginal languages map in the classroom
- Learn about local Indigenous history and sites of significance
- Share Our Pride is a great place to start learning about First Nations Peoples
- Incorporate awareness raising of First Nations history and perspectives in all school subjects
- Use the Narragunnawali Celebrate National Reconciliation Week RAP Action to learn more about this year's theme.

Act

- Have an Acknowledgement of Country at the beginning of meetings and important school events
- Organise a Pathways to Reconciliation workshops for your school
- Join the Schools Reconciliation Challenge
- Hold events for NAIDOC week, Reconciliation Week, National Apology Day, National Sorry Day
- Recognise the Traditional Custodians of Country on the school website and email signatures
- Invite local Elders, First Nations artists and Storytellers to your school
- Visit local Aboriginal sites of significance
- Develop and register a Reconciliation Action Plan for your school or early learning service
- Engage students with the National Reconciliation Week theme using the Narragunnawali curriculum resources
- Contact your Aboriginal Education Consultative Group regional rep to ensure gains in education for Aboriginal people and their communities
- Attend this year's Narragunnawali National Reconciliation Week webinar with colleagues

Share

- Share Narragunnawali professional learning resources with colleagues and friends
- Share the Uluru Statement from the Heart with your staff and encourage everyone to read it
- Share what you're doing to support reconciliation on your school's social media pages and website
- Display Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander flags, maps and artworks around the school
- Have Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander books and stories in your library